BT was originally contacted about this because the factory guide rod head appears to be peened after minimal usage. Ruger claims that this has never caused a function problem but many people wanted a replacement part that would retain its shape over the lifespan of the gun. It is important to realize that simply making the same dimensions in a ...

Springs for P Series Pistols Semi-Auto Pistols

Recoil springs fit over your handgun's guide rod and control how the slide functions. In general, heavy loads need heavy springs and lighter loads need lighter springs. A spring that is too light can cause the handgun to open and close early and hard, increasing the felt recoil and battering the frame.
